Number of Fires in the Year 1861.

A record of the number of fires during the year 1861, as kept by Mr. McKenna, the efficient societary of the Columbia Fire Company, shows the following:

January, 16 fires and 5 false alarms; February, 8 fires and 5 false alarms; March, 6 fires and 2 false alarms; March, 6 fires and 2 false alarms; June, 4 fires; July, 7 fires and 2 false alarms; August, 5 fires; September, 7 fires; October, 2 false alarms; November, 7 fires and 1 false alarms; December, 4 fires and 2 false alarms—making, in the aggregate, for 1861, 86 fires and 39 false alarms.

Raising a Fuse.

John Pettit and Charles Hughes, two young men of very amorous dispositions, were arrested on Saturday night, by officers Penwick and Walling, for breaking into the premises of George Parker, Eq., on the corner of C and Four-and-a-haif streets, in the pursuit of various colored domestics there ensooneed, and for greasy insulting the lady of the house. for grossly insulting the lady of the house. They were both committed to jail by Justice Walters, where they remained until yesterday morning, when their friends came, and forked over the amount of the flore-$10.94—and they

A Letter to Jeff. Davis.

A letter has been received at the post office in this city, stamped in the usual style, "Wheeling, December 2, 1861," and superscribed as follows; "Mr.Jeff. Davis, Sulphur City, Brimatione County, Hell, care of the Devil." We are by no means aware of any impropriety in anticipating the arch traitor's change of residence, but how, we beg to inquire of Postmister Clephane, did the thing happen to come to this distributing office? Is this the nearest approach to that foreign realm, available by our postal facilities? A Letter to Jeff. Davis.

Going to the Seaside.

Mrs. Greenhow, the beautiful rebel of Six teenth street, held in duress in her own apartments, is to be sent to Fort Lafayette, Fort Greenhow not being strong enough to prevent communication with the enemy. Her ingenuity, if not proof against locks and bars, is omnipotent under the least relaxation of strict prison discipline, through the influence of humane or gallant courtesies.

Improving.

John C. Hatter, the young man shot by Lieut. Turner, on the avenue, on Friday last, is pronounced out of danger by his physician, Dr. White, and is doing very well. The ball, however, has not yet been extracted.

Ranaway.

A fine pair of grays came dashing down Four-and a half street, yesterday, overturning and breaking the buggy. A gentleman and a negro by in the carriage were ousted out, but neither sustained any injury.
